DAVIS-MONTCHAN AFB

FY08 Economic Impact

Total Economic Impact

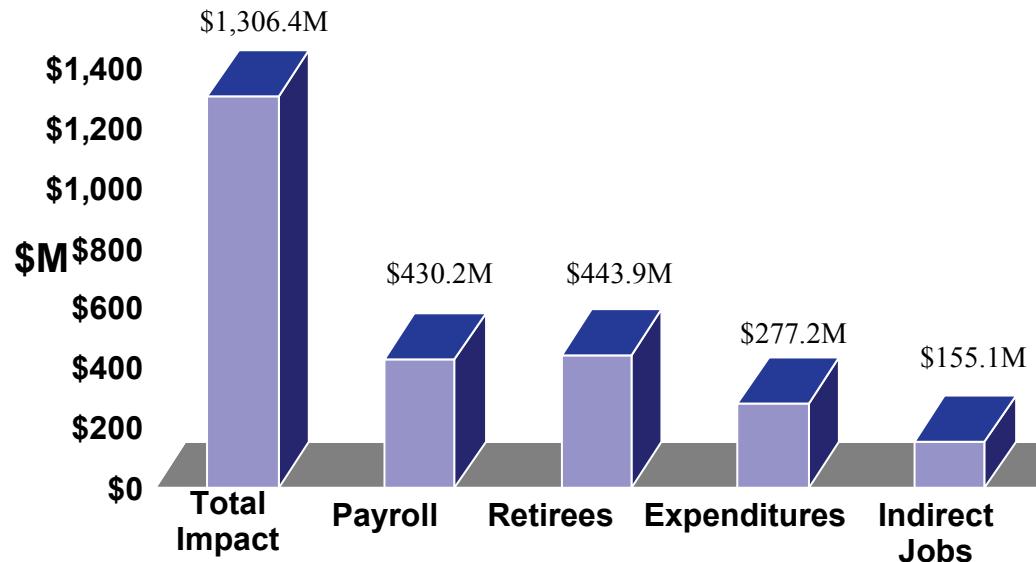

Executive Summary

Davis-Monthan Air Force Base is home to the 355th Fighter Wing and its nine major tenant units, including the Twelfth Air Force. At any given time Davis-Monthan has anywhere from 1,000 to 2,000 Airmen deployed across southwest Asia for combat operations. Although these Airmen come from every state in America, they call Tucson home. All are volunteers, and most joined after the attacks against our country on September 11, 2001.

The base has been an integral part of the Tucson community since its commissioning in 1927. We value our relationship with the Tucson community and supporters throughout Southern Arizona, who act as our wingmen to ensure we achieve our mission objectives.

The Economic Impact Analysis (EIA) shows how Davis-Monthan's operations affects the local Tucson Metropolitan Area. In Fiscal Year 2008, Davis-Monthan put over $862 million ($1.3B with retiree data included) into circulation in the local community, employed 2,556 civilians, and created 3,988 jobs in the Old Pueblo.

*All data is current as of 30 September 2008.

D-M Total Impact

Including retiree data, Davis-Monthan's total Economic Impact is:

$1,306,436,626

Retiree Data

Even though retiree data is no longer part of the EIA (by regulation), it was still researched.

In the greater Tucson area, there are 17,995 retired military who are paid $443,940,000/year by the DoD.

EIA Background

The Economic Impact Analysis is used as an asset by community leaders to assess the positive economic effect Davis-Monthan has on the community. There are four different sections to the analysis.

- Payroll (Military and Civilian)
- Expenditures (Construction, Services, Materials, Tenants)
- Indirect Jobs (Downtown Jobs)
- Personnel Figures

The EIA is regulated by AFMAN 65-506 Chapter 4.
